A very submarine petition was at last sent in by the suspended students, but to restore upon such a ground, after all that has passed lately, and all that we knew of this college, could not but strike us as quite negative. It might have answered for the present day, but this college is not ephemeral, or at least ought not to be, nor ought it to be connected as if it were.

I am making out a plain account of the disturbances and proceedings of the Faculty, for the public information. It will be as much a narrative of events, that I believe he Students will not deny the truth and justice of it. It cannot be sent now. I began it on Tuesday, and have been very much interrupted since. It will be
