True quantity.

Mr. Stephens proposes to make the brick himself at last, appears fair en-much may only objection is the current fluence of his being too near to make them, judge of their quality, and report on change their quantity. It is now seen of great importance that the mincipal part of them should be made his season, and I think more force that we heed better accede to his offer, and provide some means hereof her to avoid imposition.

I hope soon to see you soon.
Please be accept of my best wishes for your health and happiness, and receive me very sincerely

Y. R. Davis