painful attention acquired a competent knowledge of the sciences; of composing & speaking with propriety in his own language, & has connd the first principles of whatever might render him useful, or creditable in the world: merely because he could not read a language 2000 years old the laws at present require the Latin & Greek be understood by a graduate they will in all probability be mitigated in this respect. Those old forms which have been sanctioned by time but not by utility ought to be dispensed with. The lately found many good hints on education in a book entitled the rights of women a book of very great merit, the production of an original genius & penned in such a strong, masterly style that you would scarcely believe it the work of a woman. For we are taught to believe, by many able writers & tolerable accurate observers of mankind that the natural weakness of a woman's mind body extends to her mind, & becomes characteristics of
