At a called meeting of the Trustees of the University of North Carolina in the city of Raleigh on Tuesday, the 27th day of August, 1805. The President of the Board laid before the meeting letters of the 17th and 21st current from the Rev. Joseph Caldwell, President of the University, suggesting the advisability of reconsidering and reviving certain ordinances of the trustees passed at their meeting of July last providing for the appointment of monitors. It was therefore resolved that the said ordinance be suspended from and after the end of this present month until the close of the annual meeting of the trustees in November next, and that in the mean time the following be substituted to place thereof:

An ordinance to suspend for a limited time the above mentioned the further operation of certain ordinances or regulations of the trustees of the University of North Carolina passed at their meeting of July last providing for the appointment of monitors, the better arrange most of the Public Dispensary &c. and to substitute others in their place.

It is ordered by the trustees of the University of North Carolina, and it is hereby ordered accordingly that from and after the first day of September next and from thence to the end of the present year, the
