Everything goes on here as usual, and there is nothing new. Today a teacher of deaf and dumb persons intends to make a few remarks upon the manner of teaching the pupils, together with some illustrations on a pupil whom he has brought with him. He does not change anything and I expect it to be quite interesting.

It is somewhat amusing to see how persons make the law about pouring liquors to the students within two miles of the hill or to any other person.

Some time ago, a man here named Thompson gave a dinner and charged a half a dollar for the eating and gave away the liquors. And within the last week a groggy has been established just within our two miles from the hill.

Now yours desired me to present themselves to brother Charters and brother Williams. Please to give my love to them.

And believe me to be

Your affe. son
