of kicking as too severe for such a truce?
I have another letter from Kate B. saying she had just written to you. I think Kate very well qualifies to teach small children. She has a good way I can make them respect her. If she proposed to make teaching a life business, I think I know that she will make a very respectable one at least as she went on. But you see she only looks upon it as a temporary occupation to enable her to buy her wedding clothes! The month is matter. She just received a letter of twelve foot each pages from Mary. I don’t see how so much writing consists with the alleged situation. I have always found writing hard work for the eyes and brain. Wrote so! For I write after you. The been “I am so proud Mrs. Phillips has got a good place.”
